Roosevelt Will Move Forward Currency Plans

President Undeterred By Criticism On Managed Currency

HIGHER PRICES
ULTIMATE GOAL

Confusion Exists In Many Sources As To Administration's Monetary Policy

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Undeterred by criticism abroad or by doubt and skepticism expressed in some financial circles at home, President Roosevelt moved ahead today toward the goal of a managed currency, confident it will lead to higher commodity prices for the American producer and a dollar freed of control by European speculators.

As the initial step in the new monetary policy, the government, through the RFC, will begin the purchase of gold immediately. The price will be above the world price as fixed in London and Paris. This is expected to result in cheapening the dollar in relation to the pound and the franc, and in boosting the world price of the yellow metal.

Will Buy Gold.
Also, it is expected to retain in this country between 35,000 and 40,000 ounces of gold which has been flowing out each week under the administration order permitting American gold producers to reap the advantage of the higher world price. With the RFC ready to buy gold at a price higher than the world price there would be no reason for disposing of it abroad.

Vast confusion exists as to the operation of the administration's new monetary policy. The president took few people into his confidence before announcing it, and his momentous speech of Sunday night took some of his closest advisers as completely by surprise as it did the general public.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Dead trees in the city parks are being removed and young healthy trees will be planted according to Director of Parkers.

A maple will replace the trees removed from the public square, he stated.

With the streets literally covered by a carpet of leaves same operation of automobiles and motor trucks will help to minimize accidents here. Leaves on thoroughfares and car tracks can easily cause accidents.

Dear Pa New:

Through your observance column I will try and answer some of the questions that have been asked of me in the past few days concerning some of our wild life. Many wonder what becomes of the raccoon, woodchuck, squirrel and skunk, when they die. The above mentioned animals are: four sleepers; that hibernate in underground places and holes in trees and lapse into a comatose state which reduces them to a stupor. The little field mouse is active in the coldest days of winter, because of its high blood pressure that causes two hundred and sixty heart beats a minute this keeps this little creature very warm. To the contrary porcupines do not throw their quills, as they only leave their body when they come in contact with some moving creature. All animals are swimmers, and in many cases use the water as a method to escape danger when pursued. It is very rare that wild animals attack persons, and only they they are harassed or when their young is molested.

South Side Plans For Hallowe'en Celebration

Down on the South Side the folks would consider the Hallowe'en season illegal, if there wasn't a celebration held by the South Side Board of Trade and the South Side Business Men. For a year or two it was an experiment then it grew into a custom, now it is a tradition.

All of which accounts for Hartell Huston's announcement today that Tuesday night, October 31, would mark the annual Hallowe'en celebration on the South Side and to quote Huston it will be "bigger and better than ever." Committees have been named, the parade route established, and prizes are being gathered.

Committee Chairmen.
Mr. Huston, who is the general chairman of the celebration today announced the committees that would handle the celebration. They are: assistant general chairmen, Alex Samuels and Maurice Markley; grand marshal, Ivor V. Davis; prize committee, George W. Smith, chairman, Dick Barsdale, assistant chairman.

Davies, chairman; David Ritchey, assistant chairman; music committee, Tom Frank, chairman; Oscar Levine, assistant chairman; publicity committee, Bart Richards, chairman; Maurice Markley, assistant chairman; safety committee, John C. ## Mosely Uses Peach Tree Limb To Hunt For Water Supply

J. L. Mosely, attaché of the city department of engineers, whom it is reported has the faculty of being able to locate water with the aid of a peach tree limb today started in quest of water at the city disposal plant grounds where a new well is needed.

Should it do so a well will be dug and if water is found the peach tree limb theory will have been borne out.

He was accompanied on his search for water by several city officials. According to peach limb disciples the person holds the end of the two forks in each hand.

He is supposed to walk slowly when the branch bends and points to the ground water is supposed to be at that spot.

Important reports on current activities will be received at the monthly luncheon meeting of the directors of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce in the lounge of The Castleton, Thursday at 12:15.

The board has a number of important projects before them for action at the present time, and these will be discussed at this meeting.

Death Takes Harry K. Bell

Widely Known Member Of News Editorial Force Is Suddenly Stricken

DIES AT HOME ON MONDAY AFTERNOON

Death struck with shocking suddenness in the ranks of the News editorial force Monday afternoon, October 23 and removed one of the veteran writers of this newspaper, Harry King Bell, age 50. Stricken with cerebral hemorrhage in the early hours of the morning in his home at 227 Garfield avenue he never awakened from the coma, passing away in the afternoon.

For the past two years Mr. Bell had not enjoyed good health. While he was never sick enough to be away from his desk, his health was such as to cause his family and associates some alarm. Sunday night he complained of severe pains in the head. Alarmed at his condition his wife called a physician early Monday morning but before the physician could arrive the cerebral hemorrhage had taken place.

It is doubtful if there are more than a few people in New Castle who did not know Harry Bell. For over twenty years he was a newspaper man and almost the last of his life was to complete an assignment. True to the traditions of his profession he permitted nothing to supersede the demands of that profession and even as he was writing his last story, he suffered from the pains that were the forerunner to his death.

He was born in Greensfield, Pa., the son of John M. and Ida Burges Bell, November 19, 1883. As a small boy he came to New Castle with his parents and entered the New Castle Schools. He was a member of the early football teams of the New Castle High School and graduated from the school with the class of 1904. For several years he was in business but left the business world to enter newspaper work.

There was nothing of the spectacular about Harry Bell. Quiet as to disposition he went about his work and every day life in a steady, methodical manner. He was a man of deep loyalties and his fellow writers on The News and his close associates will miss his fine (Continued on Page Two)

Three Miners Are Killed By Fall Of Slate

Nine Others Injured When Slate Wrecks Train Carrying Miners To Work

ACCIDENT OCCURS NEAR M'KEESPORT

Live Electric Wires Torn Down Add To Confusion And Hamper Rescue

(International News Service)
M'KEESPORT, Pa., Oct. 24.—Three miners were killed today when a fall of slate wrecked a train of cars carrying the men to work in the Hubbard Mine of the McKeesport Coal and Coke Company, near here.

Fifty men were on the train as it passed along the main passageway of the mine about 4,000 feet from the bottom of the shaft when the avalanche of slate and rock crashed down from the mine roof onto the fourth car of the train.

About eight tons of slate was estimated to have fallen.

Miners leaped from other cars in the train and began desperate rescue efforts.

Three were dead when the debris was cleared away. They are: John Uester, 40, McKeesport; John Wilkuk, 44, and Joseph Uesgle, 43, of Versailles.

Three other miners were sent to McKeesport hospital. The remaining injured were able to return to their homes.

Live electric wires torn from insulators in the roof of the mine writhed among the injured and the moans of the dying added to the confusion.

Dr. Condon Says Gorch Not Man Who Got $50,000

(BULLSTIN)
NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Dr. John F. Condon, the "Jafie" of the Lindbergh kidnap case, today examined a photograph of John Gorch, ex-convict, under arrest in Boston as a suspect.

"That is positively not the man to whom I gave the $50,000 ransom money in St. Raymond's cemetery," said Dr. Condon. "I've never seen said Gorch. The man I gave the money to was a much more athletic type. I have reason to believe he is dead."

Dr. Condon was shown the photograph by newspaper men. He said neither police nor government agents had been in touch with him since the arrest of Gorch in Boston. Gorch was held in connection with a number of burglaries pending an investigation of his suspected connection with the kidnaping.

IT WAS A BIG HARD JOB!

I want to thank the workers and all who had anything to do with the Community Chest.

Considering conditions it was a fine piece of work, in spite of everything.

A lot of fine people got together and got acquainted, which is a mighty fine thing.

It was a community meeting every time and there cannot be too many community meetings.

New people got into the work and how they did work! New Castle is a great city and it has great people and I am glad I can call it my birthplace and my home. I hope I will be allowed to stay here as long as I live. It's a great privilege to be an American and a citizen of New Castle.

Yours for all time,
FRED L. RENTZ, Chairman.

The merchants are adding additional salespeople for the three days of the week. Many of them (Continued on Page Two)

Japan Recalls Ambassador To Tokyo Office

Ambassador Katsuji Debuschi Will Give His Government First Hand Information

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Indicating the interest with which Japan views the foreshadowed resumption of normal relations between the United States and Soviet Russia, Katsuji Debuschi, Japanese ambassador, today said his government had recalled him to Tokyo for the purpose of presenting first hand information on American official and public opinion concerning naval disarmament and the far eastern problems generally.

The little Japanese envoy, whose departure will terminate five years of service here as chief representative of the far eastern empire, said he expects to be stationed in the foreign office at Tokyo as adviser on American relations.

"My government is anxious to have me in the foreign office to give the benefit of my knowledge of the American attitude towards problems in the Pacific," he said. "I have not resigned but will continue in the service."

He has been here already a year longer than Japanese custom decrees for its envoys. Japan ordinarily does not leave its ambassadors in one post more than four years.

Campaign For $70,000 Ends In Success Monday

Workers Enthusiased At Final Report Meeting Of Fund Drive

LEADERS COMMENT FINE WORK OF TEAMS

Agencies In Chest To Be Well Supported During Coming Year

One thousand public-spirited citizens, solicitors for this year's community Chest campaign, brought a triumphant finale to the week-long drive last night when they gathered in the Cathedral to record a victory in the campaign for $70,000.

New Castle as a city bathed in the glory of victory as the workers cheered, for it was the enthusiastic response and generosity of its citizens that put the civic campaign across.

Triumph For City.
Significant because it meant that townspeople were not content to see the work of eight leading character-building, welfare and medical institutions be impaired, the successful climax to the canvassing provoked a roar of applause which echoed up and down the Cathedral dining room for several minutes.

Just as General Chairman Fred L. Rentz, the presiding officer at every workers' rally, spoke the $70,000 figure, bedlam broke loose. Horns and whistles, provided at the table for the "victory dinner" it was hoped to be, shrieked their noise along with the cheers of the happy campaigners.

Not for several years has such a community drive, promoted in the cause of the Community Chest, witnessed such a colorful ending.

The first item of business, the only one of consequence for the evening, was the roll call of teams which came immediately following dinner.

General Chairman Rentz called upon Lewis G. Wells, capable assistant director of the campaign, to address the workers after victory had been achieved. In words well chosen he praised the entire Chest organization, the fine spirit of New Castle citizens, the fine service of the competent girls of the campaign organization and the "stick-to-itiveness" of the canvassers.

Pay Tribute To Mr. Bell
But as Mr. Wells' praise continued, his words grew heavier. And then he said:

"There is one of our number missing tonight—he's been at every other meeting of the campaign. He'd been here with us tonight if he could have. But he couldn't—death this afternoon took Harry K. Bell. Harry was everybody's friend."

And for a moment or two the still audience bowed in tribute to Mr. Bell, for years a reporter of The News, he was active in many a community campaign of this kind.

General Chairman Rentz also paid a high tribute to Mr. Bell when he spoke later. He praised his devotion to service.

Mrs. Johnson Heard
After Mr. Rentz had declared that "I am well pleased with this campaign" he turned to Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson, president of the Community Chest, for a word or two.

"I want to thank you for your work this year," began Mrs. Johnson. "I thank you in the name of the Community Chest. These organizations (represented in the Chest) are your organizations, directed by men and women whom we know to be capable."

Mrs. Johnson praised Mr. Rentz for his excellent leadership qualities. (Continued on Page Two)

He's an old time grad from an ancient class but he's still a Freshman at heart, he likes to get back when the season is on, and look at the gridders start. Now his whiskers are white and his shoulders are stooped but the whistle puts new life in him, and once they get started he's the essence of pep, and bubbling over with vim. It's been fifty years since he took the field, and his team is a long time away, but he still believes he could change a punt, its cool, fifty four today.

New Wilmington Seeks To Provide Some Employment

The application has been received by the board and the borough has been complimented upon its endeavor to relieve unemployment, and also upon the clarity of the request.

"Fifteen years ago when Neshannock avenue was paved, the sewer should have been installed," said Burgess W. Fillmore Campbell, Water has always been an annoyance on the street after a rain and we believe that now is the time to make improvements. If the loan is granted, the work will start immediately."

TROUBLE IN STORE FOR HALLOWE'EN GANGS

Celebration Of Hallowe'en Is Carried Too Far

Acts Of Vandalism And Viciousness Are Reported
In Different Parts
Of City

YOUTHS GOING TO EXTREMES IS REPORT

Pre-Hallowe'en celebrators are beginning to get just a little too rough in some of the pranks they are carrying out, which will likely result in prosecutions if continued.

According to reports received at The News, some of the pranks being played are vicious in their character and dangerous to the celebrators and the objects of their horeplay.

Last evening, a resident of the Highland Extension district received a severe cut on his arm, when someone threw a missile through his door.

Someone attached a fire-cracker to the engine of Rev. C. S. Joshua, of Haus avenue, which exploded with a loud report, frightening him and causing a danger of fire to his machine.

Boys have been pulling the trolleys off street cars, and doing other acts, bordering on vandalism.

No one objects to the youth of the city having a good time at the Hallowe'en season, but acts of vandalism causing damage to property or injuries to people are beyond the stage of fun, and can only be inspired by thoughtlessness or viciousness on the part of the perpetrators.

ROOSEVELT WILL MOVE FORWARD ON CURRENCY PLANS

ories as to what should or should not be done with the currency all managed to extract some measure of satisfaction out of the situation. Thus, the inflation bloc in congress interpreted Mr. Roosevelt's move as a step in their direction.

Thus, also, those who have been agitating for a "stabilized dollar" read into it a measure of stabilization. They regarded the government's intention of purchasing gold in the open market, at home and abroad too, if necessary, as creating a stabilizing influence.

Mr. Roosevelt himself took no steps to clear up the confusion. He conferred at considerable length with Jesse Jones, chairman of the RFC, and with Dean Acheson, acting secretary of the treasury, but they were as uncommunicative as was the president himself concerning details of the new scheme. It was simply announced that the government would start its gold purchases immediately, and the rest was silence.

HELP ADDED TO MAKE "BUY NOW" SALE SUCCESSFUL

have employed additional help, already, in preparation for the "Buy Now" campaign.

This sales event, sponsored by the Retail Merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce and the New Castle News, will be the biggest sales effort ever put forth by local merchants. All are aiding in contributing to the success of the affair, and all are planning to offer the most attractive price schedule ever witnessed in a sale of this kind.

Everyone Can Help

Every individual in Lawrence county can help to put the President's campaign for stimulating industry over in a big way, by purchasing many of the things he has been contemplating buying but has refrained from doing so because of that feeling of conservatism which has been manifested for the last four years.

Every extra dollar spent at this time means more money for the merchant to buy new goods, more money for the banks to handle, more merchandise to be manufactured to again fill the shelves of the merchants, more work for the salespeople, and more work for those in the field of industry. New Castle and Lawrence county citizens will do well to purchase things they need, or will be able to use at some future time, during this sale, because prices are bound to advance. They have gone up materially already and will go higher until the proper level is reached. Those who buy at this time, will not only benefit themselves by purchasing goods at bargain prices, but will also help their fellowman as well, through creating a demand for manufactured products, which will mean more work for many others.

Warns Youths To Cease Their Insults

State Highway Patrolman Sarko today stated that unless youths desist from crowding corners and cause insulting car operators who refuse to give them "lifts" the highway patrol will make arrests. He said today that the youths collect at various corners and specifically named two, Atlantic avenue and West Washington street and also at the city line and Harlansburg road.

Will you experiment
ONE WEEK
to be RID of Constipation
FOR LIFE?
Thousands have ended their bowel troubles this way

1 Get a liquid laxative that can be measured to the drop.
2 Take the amount found to bring a perfect movement.
3 Reduce the dose, as bowels begin to move without help.

Can constipation be overcome? "Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" say thousands who have followed their advice and know.

You are not likely to cure any case of constipation with salts, pills, tablets, or any habit-forming cathartic. But you can correct this condition by gentle regulation with a suitable liquid laxative.

Why Hospitals use a liquid laxative
The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can be controlled. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The right liquid laxative brings a perfect movement, without any discomfort at the time, or after.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it! And the habitual use of irritating salts, or of powerful drugs in the highly concentrated form of pills and tablets may prove injurious.

What is a Safe Laxative?
In buying any laxative, read the label. If it contains one doubtful drug, don't take it. If you don't know anything about a preparation, ask some doctor about it. Temporary relief that you get from some habit-forming cathartic is very apt to be dearly bought.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a prescription preparation with its ingredients stated on the label. By using it, you avoid bowel strain. You can keep the bowels regular, and comfortable. You can make constipated spells as rare as colds.

Make the LIQUID TEST:
A week with a properly prepared liquid laxative will prove to you that you are on the right track. A few weeks' time, and your bowels can be as regular as clockwork. The secret is the right laxative, and the right dose. A laxative you can measure out, and reduce the dose as the need for help is reduced. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative which every druggist keeps ready for use.

SUCCESSFUL CHEST CAMPAIGN!

CONCLUDING MORE than a week's effort in a successful community chest campaign to raise $70,000 for local agencies, last night, those in charge, those who solicited, and those who contributed, merit a word of commendation today.

For the first time in years past, and in the face of obstacles that were of large proportions, the army of volunteers in the present campaign under exceptional leadership, put the drive over.

It is a real achievement, not only for the campaigners, but for the city and community as well.

New Castle is regaining its fighting spirit; New Castle is on the road back to its rightful place.

It was a big job, well done!

This campaign has served to put New Castle out in front once more as a city that does things. And we're going to keep her there!

THE CALL TO LOOSEN UP

The current call to spend more, uttered in the now familiar voice of NRA, is an invitation to go shopping for prosperity. What a bargain that would be, at any price. For it isn't illogical to argue that, according to our means, we can buy the good times back again. It isn't for merchants. And it isn't for manufacturers. And it isn't for the producers of raw materials. Yet as a matter of fact it is for all of these, and ourselves included, and the man across the way, who hasn't found work yet. It is for America.

You will say, there are already those who are spending more than they should, their decreased incomes considered, and also there are others who have pitifully little to spend, and even now must spend it all. Then there are those who have nothing. The NRA rallying cry to spenders, however, is not addressed to these. Indeed, it is intended eventually to bring about their relief. It is addressed to citizens who have spent less than they could, or should, and who now are entreated to spend more—to the end that the recovery movement shall progress. You may shorten the working week. You may enact codes that reform entire industries. These steps are essential to progress. But the whole cannot proceed without the part, and part of the recovery programme is an increased confidence and support as evidenced in more liberal spending.

INFLUENCE OF LIBRARIES

Libraries, particularly those open to the public, have played an important part in American education. The late Andrew Carnegie provoked some degree of railery by his wholesale distribution of them, and perhaps he was not always judicious in selecting the objects of his benefactions. Nevertheless he made no small contribution to the general intelligence. During the depression these great collections of books have proved a useful resource for those whose time hung heavy on their hands. The annual gathering of the American Library Association in Chicago last week may fairly be said to have had unusual importance at this time. Seldom have the librarians had more important questions to consider. They are members of a profession with constantly rising standards. They must be highly educated to fulfill their functions with credit to themselves and advantage to the community. It is a long time since they were regarded merely as persons who handed out books to inquiring readers. They are constant sources of information and advice on the greatest possible variety of subjects. Their work in the field of adult education has been conspicuous. No library of any consequence can fail to play an important part in the social order. Americans have the reputation of being tireless readers; but they have not always used their reading to the best effect. It is no small part of the duty of the librarian to prevent the mere waste of time on the printed page.

TAKE-A-CHANCE

Take-a-chance drivers are the worst enemies of safety. They are on every road and in every crowded thoroughfare of the city. They are always in a hurry. Every second counts with them.

When traffic is running in double lines and streets are full, Take-a-chance dodges in and out and races the field for the next red light. When everybody else is stopping in obedience to signals, he finds opportunity to crowd ahead of two or three and hog a little space. Half the time he is on the wrong side of the street.

The white line down the middle of the street is a mere invitation to him to take a chance. He races along where he has no right-of-way and makes those who have, slow down or be wrecked.

As a matter of fact, the take-a-chance driver on streets controlled by automatic signals gains very little time. He races past you endangering life and property, but you generally find him waiting at the next intersection where the signal is against him.

The honest driver who has valid reason for being in a hurry will, if he has good sense, leave the main thoroughfares and proceed on those less frequented where he can drive as fast as speed restrictions permit. But Take-a-chance probably is not reasonably in a hurry. He is merely adventurous. He likes the thrill of horning in, bullying the timid out of his way and missing at high speed by the thickness of the varnish.

Officers should make a point of sorting out and gathering in this type of driver. He is a menace to the peace and safety of the motoring community.

Gold didn't cause the depression. It was the lack of gold.

MIGHT HAVE BEEN WORSE

You may regret that you did not marry one of those other persons you might have married.

The partner you have, you have seen at his best and his worst. The one you might have married, was seen only when trying to be most pleasing.

This fact should be considered when your mind travels back over the past years. Don't be foolish enough to believe that he or she whom you did not marry was devoid of faults as pronounced as the one you did marry. Because, if you take any such position, you would not be in line with the truth.

He or she might have had personal equations far more irritable to you than your present life partner, but you did not know or perhaps you have forgotten.

In certain circumstances the best of men and women have mean streaks.

You are not an exception to that rule. If you had married one of the other possibilities you might have been mated with one who would not overlook, or be as tolerant as your own partner.

Everything considered, your own weaknesses included, your life has been comparatively happy, hasn't it?

"Indeed," said the magistrate, "I wonder if you know a lady when you see one."

"Course, I do," answered the driver indignantly. "Why, only the other day I saw one. She gave me a pound note for a shilling fare and walked away. 'Ere, mum, I says, 'what about your change?' 'Don't be a blinkin' fool,' says she. 'Keep it an' get drunk enough to kiss your mother-in-law.'"

"Now," he ended triumphantly, "that's what I call a real lidy."

Here is what he says they're doing down there with the feline population: Travis Bates, in charge of my peacan grove is a very successful grifter (not used in its baser sense) and bunder of trees and shrubs.

His Siamese cat presented him some time ago with a litter of kittens and he decided to try his skill on them. He used animal oil instead of linseed oil in making up his grafting wax, scarified the backs of two kittens, got their cambium layers together and bound them in proper shape.

The experiment was a success: they run around on one quarter of a mile, then gracefully spring over backwards, and immediately a rested set of legs comes into play. To the delight of onlookers they are able to spring out from one telegraph pole 15 to 20 feet to another. They have worn those poles half in two with their claws.

But it is in fighting they have won the greatest fame. Carrying two cats, their legs and claws are extra strong. The bottom cat can can fight just as well as any other cat and then there is one mouth, four legs, and four sets of claws up above with nothing to do but fight. They are high boss of the whole cat community and they have cleaned up every dog—bulldogs and all—that they have gone up against. Bates is now growing a three cat, 12-claw animal for a circus.

Daily Editorial Digest

Synopsis of Editorial Views By Newspapers of Nations on Important Subjects as Edited by Consolidated Press AssociationMencken Still Holds Place
Say Admirers Of His WorkRetirement From Magazine Field Reminds Public Of Post-War Period In Which His Brilliant Pen Aroused
Admiration And Anger

Henry L. Mencken retires from editorial direction of the American Mercury, but the public refuses to believe that a caustic force in current life has been eliminated. Admirers of his brilliant pen, it is indicated, will continue to remember his shafts at human weakness and to expect further contributions to literature.

"This gifted critic was the head and front of what might be called the kidding era," says the ABILENE REPORTER. That paper holds that he and his associates "made a big noise after the close of the war, when people were ready for a bit of local smashing," but that "taste in literature has turned to soberer mediums." The Reporter would not be surprised to see the world "turn with welcoming arms to mushy poetry. Little Lord Fauntleroy novels and East Lynn drama."

"Our leading debunker and punterer of hypocrisy," the description given by the ROCK ISLAND ARGUS, which says that he "made people mad, but also made them think." The Argus concludes: "Now that some of the smoke has lifted, we can see that Mencken was often right in some of his contentions."

"Probably now that he has come to middle age, he will no longer use vitriol for a writing fluid, but we shall be treated to the seasoned reflections of a sage. In any case we cannot conceive of Mr. Mencken writing dry-as-dust stuff at any age. We hope he will anger us occasionally, just to keep his hand in and to show us he has not entirely abdicated his critic's throne."

We have always enjoyed hearing him bark, knowing all the while that his bark was far worse than his bite, because this outcrier and slasher of a literary musketeer is actually a very well behaved gentleman in private life, and is genial and companionable to a degree. Morally he has always been better than some of his detractors.

"He was champion of cynicism and high priest of invective," avers the CMAHA WORLD-HERALD, with the suggestion that, "rightly, his retirement to a respectable old age should be accompanied by low music with a certain amount of appreciation for one who not only served a function but was entertaining as well. Explaining its idea of this function, the WORLD-HERALD continues: "It was to furnish periodical jolts to complacency. When he was riding high, back in the dim, distant twenties, we were, on the whole, a smug lot. We were satisfied and sleek. Mencken, with a magnificent command of language and absolutely no respect for conventions, flung literary mud pies at us with measured accuracy. A substitute for what we were he did not offer. Of course not. His criticism was purely 'destructive.' But it was none the less good. It was criticism which, however it roused our anger or pride, was entertaining, did stimulate us into enlarged denial, and thereby provoked healthy self-examination. Mencken was rarely right. Like Bernard Shaw, he was too fond of the picturesque half-truth, too wedded to superficiality. But how he could roar!"

"The magar he world is poorer in his loss," thinks the AKRON BEACON JOURNAL, voicing the expectation that in his future work there will be "journalistic masterpiece and some racy and uproarious volutes." The ROANOKE TIMES states that he has been "a useful irritant in our social set-up" and that "his energy, wit, humor and drollery have made a decided and valuable contribution to the Americana of his generation." The DANBURY NEWS-TIMES, appraising his work as of the wrecking variety, adds that "he might desire to clear a way for new structures, but his part of the job carried the dynamite, the blasting and the blowing up and down."

"As a broad general proposition," advises the NEWARK EVENING NEWS, "he is not a devout admirer of the prevalent human race. He seems to sense something lacking and so speaks right out in meeting and in reprofr. His irreconcilable attitude has not been profitless, however. Individually, spear, and in the wide setting of the world on the sidelines, resident of a Sabine farm not too far distant from Broadway and Forty Second street, or Baltimore and Charles streets, can continue to instruct, scold and generally supervise humanity to its enlightenment and guidance."

"Ten years ago," according to the MIAMI DAILY NEWS, "The moral, political, artistic and social conditions of the world were a shell-shocked world were at their height. . . . They were the days when all that glittered was gold, and the mirages built by buncombe were traded in at high prices for the making of statesmen and multi-millionaires. In that day rose Henry Mencken with his Mercury and his bubble—pricking spear, and what a job he did! With what mercilessness he probed the pretences, hit the hypocrisies, drove at the delusions of the day. He pricked and probed and blasted and blasted and probed and pricked. Then an explosion louder, more violent than anything the dynamite in the Mencken arsenal could produce. Nature took its course; in 19

Outline Of Amendments Before Voters Of State On Tuesday, November 7

Assemblyman William McElwee, Jr., of Lawrence county, gives in brief the purpose of the amendments that are to be acted upon at coming General Election.

As largely as possible without expression of personal opinion, the purposes of the twelve proposed amendments to the State Constitution to be voted on this Fall have been outlined by Mr. McElwee in the following series:

Seventh Amendment

In the seventh amendment it is proposed to dispense with some of the requirements of the present constitution. Section three of Article XVII of the present constitution reads as follows: and in the amendment it is proposed to cut out the words that are set in blackface type.

"Section 3. All individuals, associations and corporations shall have the equal right to have persons and property transported over railroads and canals, and no undue or unreasonable discrimination shall be made in charges for, or in facilities for, transportation of freight or passengers within the state or coming from or going to any other state. Persons and property transported over any railroad shall be delivered at any station at charges not exceeding the charges for transportation of persons and property, of the same class in the same direction to any more distant station;

Eighth Amendment

In the eighth amendment it is proposed to add another section to Article IX of the constitution to read as follows:

"Section 17. The governor, the auditor general, and the state treasurer, immediately upon the adoption of this amendment by the electors, may borrow an amount not exceeding twenty-five million dollars to defray the expenses of the state government for the biennium beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred thirty-three; provided the general assembly, at its regular session of one thousand nine hundred thirty-three, has authorized the borrowing of money for this purpose."

This amendment is a radical departure from the policy of the commonwealth which has existed since 1873. The policy of the commonwealth heretofore has been to pay as it goes, except for improvements such as permanently improved roads, the use of which will be extended into the future. At the close of the regular session of 1933 the governor pared down the appropriations made to the hospitals and certain other institutions to the extent of twenty-eight million dollars, or thereabout, and made them contingent upon the approval of this amendment. Some think that he might have used this power in paring down some other things instead of the hospitals but whether or not the governor was wise or otherwise, this has created an emergency, and we are now faced with that emergency. If this amendment is not passed, certainly some of the hospitals will be closed until something can be done to remedy the situation. The amount being comparatively small and the emergency being comparatively great, it would seem to be the wisest thing to do to approve this amendment.

Ninth Amendment

The ninth amendment relates only to the City of Philadelphia. By this amendment it is proposed to allow the city to assess property which does not but on an improvement. The assessments will be made, if this amendment passes, on the basis of zones, rather than on the basis now used. In other words, suppose a rapid transit line is projected into a community, and high-rises are built. The theory is that it benefits the community and not alone those whose property faces thereon. This is the plan used in some of the western cities, but it has dangers in it as well as good things. If the City of Philadelphia wants this, they ought to have it, but it should be approved only with caution.

Pennsylvania Labor Officials Are Invited To Washington

By ARTHUR C. WIMMER
Special Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 24.—Secretary of Labor Perkins has invited Pennsylvania labor officials to attend a conference of state officials, economists and labor leaders here Wednesday to discuss unemployment insurance with Sir William Beveridge, Director of the London School of Economics and an outstanding authority on methods of dealing with unemployment, particularly unemployment insurance. Miss Perkins announced today the meeting would be attended by state administrative officers, laws and employment problems; economists advising various state and federal government departments on employment matters and labor leaders who are in Washington serving on various government committees. About fifty have indicated their intentions of attending. The secretary's invitation has gone forward to Pennsylvania officials.

Grave Of Brother Of Abe Lincoln Has Been Found

Tommy Lincoln Died When Three Days Old, Grave Is Located By Accident

(International News Service)
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 24.—In a little family cemetery on the brow of a knob down in Larue county only half mile from where Abraham Lincoln lived has been found the grave of little Tommy Lincoln, infant brother of the great emancipator, the Herald-Post said here Monday in a copyrighted story.

That Lincoln had a brother is one of the least known facts about the Civil War president. Many of his biographers make no mention of little Thomas. Others barely mention him—an attitude resulting probably from the fact the child died three days after birth. The babe's name is not listed in Lincoln family Bible and President Lincoln in his brief autobiographical sketch simply said, "A brother, younger, died in infancy."

Discovery of the grave was made by workers on the county unemployed relief rolls, who were sent out to clean up old graveyards, the Herald-Post narrates. When they reached the old George Redmond burying plot, James Taylor, foreman of the crew, noticed a particularly sunken grave evidently of a child. No headstone was in sight but Taylor dug down about a foot and struck a marker with the initials "T. L."

Investigation was launched and it established by the oldest inhabitants that the Redmonds and the Lincolns were cordial neighbors; and a descendant of the former recalled having heard that George Redmond had buried a Lincoln child.

The plot is now a deserted shambles on an almost inaccessible knoll overlooking Rolling Fork river halfway between Hodgenville and New Haven on U. S. 31-E.

The discovery was accepted here as authentic because supported by both convincing circumstances and tradition and was hailed as another link in the chain of Lincolniana.

This Will Be Fourth Ingathering Of Food For Jameson Hospital

Hospital Is Four Years Old;
Fourth Annual Food
Donation Days
This Week

Friday and Saturday will be food donation days for the Jameson Memorial hospital, sponsored by the Hospital Aide society. About this worthy movement, Dr. W. W. Bissell, hospital superintendent, writes: "Jameson Memorial hospital is now a little over four years old. It celebrated its fourth birthday on September 7. It will enjoy its fourth ingathering of food supplies on October 27 and 28.

"When the last sack of potatoes is placed and the last onion is counted and the last glass of jam is displayed in all its glory and the cabbage and the turnips are arranged and the sugar is corded up—then the display will make most county fairs hang their heads in humiliation.

"Looking down on that practical expression of human interest and appreciation of display in the lobby of the hospital will be David Jameson—his splendid face on the east wall, and he will appreciate it. Most of all he will prize that little single glass of jelly brought in by that thoughtful little woman who took the pains—who really cared to pay her kindly respects to the sick in the memorial he provided. For him and for us—and down to the last little pickle—it is worth while."

Card Of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy shown during the illness and death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Elizabeth J. Rice; also for cars donated.

Review Denied To Dry Forces By High Court

Missouri Case Which Would Have Tested Repeal Constitutionality Is Sidetracked

NO REASON FOR DENIAL GIVEN

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The Supreme Court Monday removed a threat to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment when it refused to review a Missouri case in which constitutionality of the method of repeal adopted by congress was attacked.

While the action of the court does not bar future dry legal attacks on repeal, it ended the only chance for an early decision.

The case originated when P. A.
Tate sought a writ of mandamus from Judge Sevier of Cole county, Missouri, to force the secretary of state to accept petitions for a referendum on the legislative act for a vote on repeal. Both Judge Sevier and the Missouri Supreme Court denied the petition.

Unconstitutional
Through his attorney Gus O. Nations, Tate contended in the high court that the method of submi-ting the repeal question to state constitutional conventions was unconstitutional.

The Missouri Supreme Court, he contended, erred in holding that the legislature acted as an agent of the federal government and therefore the Missouri law for a referendum on legislative acts did not apply.

Joseph T. Davis and H. P. Lauf, attorneys for Judge Sevier, in reply declared that the Missouri Supreme Court decision was based entirely upon the Missouri constitution.

Declaring that no federal question was involved, they said the high court had no right to interfere in the matter.

The court itself gave no explanation of its reasons for denying the review.

Urges Support Of Eighth Amendment

Former New Castle Resident
Considers It The Most Important On List

The News is in receipt of a letter from William J. Cronin, a former
New Castle boy, now assistant professor and assistant director of summer school courses at the University of Pennsylvania, in which he calls attention to the importance of voting for the proposed eighth amendment to the Pennsylvania constitution, to come before voters at the November election.

This is considered to be the most important amendment on the list, involving a $25,000,000 bond issue.
The proceeds of the bond issue will be used as follows: $20,000,000 for unemployment relief; $21,231,365 to 160 state aided hospitals, and $2,- 564,000 to fourteen state aided educational institutions, including the University of Pennsylvania.

If the bond issue is defeated existing funds will be exhausted in December. If the state fails to make provision for carrying on, help from the Federal government will cease. Relief for the immediate future is based wholly upon the ratification of the amendment.

Deladier Falls By 329-241 Vote

Chamber Of Deputies Votes
Lack Of Confidence
In Cabinet

NEW PREMIER IS BEING SOUGHT

(International News Service)
PARIS, Oct. 24.—President Albert Lebrun today launched negotiations to select a new premier as France met still another government crisis with the fall of the cabinet headed by Edouard Deladier.

By a vote of 329 to 241, the chamber of deputies voted lack of confidence in the cabinet as Deladier, with his back to the wall, fought for a balanced budget to save the franc from devaluation. A proposal to cut the pay of civil servants was the vital issue.

Tax-Payer Opposition
As on previous occasions, taxpayer opposition to government monetary plans was responsible for the defeat. The cabinet, headed by Joseph Paul-Boncour went down on the budget issue last January.

A month earlier Edouard Herriot fell after advocating payment of the French debt instalment to the United States.

Early this morning, after the chamber emptied following a heated and dramatic debate, the ministers handed their resignations to the president. He accepted, thanking the fallen officials for their services, asking them to remain at their posts for the time being.

Greencastle Bank Is Entered By Bandits Believed To Be Escaped Convicts

(International News Service)
GREENCASTLE, Ind., Oct. 24.—Deputy sheriffs and state police today combed Indiana highways for eight heavily armed bandits who robbed the Central National Bank and Trust company of $17,000 in cash and $40,000 in negotiable securities.

The men were believed to be escaped convicts from the state penitentiary at Michigan City. Bank officials identified Harry Pierpont, one of the escaped convicts as the gang leader.

Two machine guns carried by the bandits were believed by police to have been stolen in a recent raid on the Peru, Ind., police station.

Two gunmen entered while the others herded six employees and six customers into a rear room. They then forced cashier Harry Wells to open the vault. Looting the vault the bandits fled eastward in an automobile with an Ohio license plate.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 24.—Two powerful motion picture producers, Joseph M. Schenck, president of United Artists and the new Twentieth Century pictures, and Samuel Goldwyn, head of Samuel Goldwyn productions, today quit the association of motion picture producers—the Will Hays group.

The two producers denounced New York film heads who "produced the proposed motion picture code," declaring the eastern executives used high salaries paid employees as an "alibi to stockholders for the mismanagement of their businesses."

In a statement issued in their behalf by Schenck it was stated that they objected to the policy which permits the association "to be run by the distributors of New York who happen to be the bosses of producers belonging to the association."

Further, Schenck declared, "these gentlemen in New York who attempt to dictate production policies without knowing the temperament of the actors, directors and writers with whom they are dealing, have succeeded in bringing about a partial demoralization in their studios. Goldwyn organized producers of Hollywood 21 years ago.

Seek To Organize Fire Companies In Rural Areas

Efforts are being made at the present time to organize the rural districts into volunteer fire companies, according to Frank H. Robinson, who is active in the work of the firemen's association in this end of the state.

"There is a need for volunteer companies in a number of the outlying communities," said Mr. Robinson. "Shenango Township, Neshannock Township, New Bedford and other places in the county need fire protection. They are entitled their share of the 2 to 20 per cent foreign fire insurance premium paid to fire companies and in many instances this would be sufficient to keep the volunteer company operating during the year."

Organization meetings are planned in the near future and it is hoped to get the entire county interested.

Distilleries Will Spring Up Fast

Fifty Large Ones Expected To Be In Operation Within Year

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Fifty large distilleries will be in operation in the United States in less than a year, Dr. James M. Doran, chief of the Bureau of Industrial alcohol said today.

These distilleries and the smaller units expected to spring up through out the country will have a potential capacity of several hundred million gallons of spirits annually.

Within five to eight years the country's stocks of properly aged liquor again will be built up to meet the requirements. In the opinion of experts. Early operations of the distilleries were expected to be on a capacity basis in order to produce the surplus necessary to create the reserve stocks.

In the meantime the alcoholic beverages of the country, with the exception of imports, will be of the blended and synthetic type. It was expected many would continue to buy alcohol and concoct their own liquors.

Doran said hundreds of applications have been filed for permits to operate distilleries. They are being investigated at this time to determine the character of the applicants so licenses may be issued immediately upon repeal.

Chaney High To Play Friday In Last Night Game

Powerful Youngstown High Eleven Will Test New Castle Friday Night

New Castle Team In Fine Condition For Seventh Game On 1933 Program

New Castle high school "Red Hurricane" football team will have a tough customer to contend with Friday night at Taggart field. The 1933 program calls for Youngstown Chaney high, a powerful grid machine and one that may stop the mad rush of the Bridenbaughmen toward an undefeated season.

Over in Youngstown it's being talked around that perhaps this Chaney team can take the New Castle team into camp. That defeat at Salem high last week was the first of the season for the Chaney team. They will be fighting mad when they go up against the New Castle "Red Hurricane".

The New Castle team came out of the hard game at Turtle Creek without any serious injuries, and how it happened that none of the locals broke their arms or legs on that solid hard clay field is short of a miracle. The Turtle Creek field was by far the worst field that the New Castle team has ever played on. Even worse than Charleroi. It was just like concrete out there in the middle. The sun had baked it thru and through.

Kramer Comes Through. Coach Phil Bridenbaugh didn't lose any time in getting his footballers out this week. In fact they were out Monday afternoon for a nice long drill. There are a lot of rough edges to be taken off this week. The way this man "Red" Kramer has been playing it will be hard for Fleming to break in again at left end, when his leg is better.

Kramer played a sweet game against Turtle Creek. He made one tackle that knocked the wind out of him. He made more than one tackle. Kramer has clicked at end and Coach Bridenbaugh can breathe easier, because these terminal jobs have been a big worry this year.

With Hitchens performing in great style at the other end and Tusciano, Perrett and Fleming available, the end jobs have ceased to be a worry to the popular local mentor.

Well, what we are trying to convey is just this, that it is going to be a real football party at Taggart field under the lights Friday night. It will be the final night game of the season. Better plan to be there and see what looms as one of the best football games of the year on the home lot.

Goodballet To Battle Cerra

Rocco's Conqueror Wants To Even Score With Farrell Boy

SEVERAL NEW FACES ON CARD

Until one week ago Monday night followers of amateur boxers hereabouts had the impression that George Rocco, the Ellwood City middleweight was the cream of the 160 pounders. However, their opinion was changed October 16 when Keith Goodballet of East Liverpool forced Rocco to take a 10 count while on his knees. The referee awarded a technical bout to the East Liverpool southpaw.

And now that Keith left-handed Rocco into submission they will look forward to next Monday night as it will be then that Tony Cerra, the peer of the Farrell middleweights tackles Goodballet. Not so many weeks ago Cerra punched out a three round decision over Goodballet in a fight that was very exciting. Having dropped a scrap to Cerra, Goodballet wants to even up.

Cerra Is Eager
"I was not in the condition I should have been for Cerra when I met him at Ellwood City and he got the decision," said Goodballet after he stopped Rocco. "Toss me in with the Farrell boy again and I'll make it a big effort to polish him off. If he can take my southpaw punches he'll be some fighter," to which Cerra said: "Toss me in? I'm in right now. Bring him on."
So fans it looks very much as though they'll see something exciting. Cerra will probably land high on the tournament ladder and the scrap

October 30 will be sort of a tuneup for him. It at least will keep his judge of distance in good shape.

Joe To Box Again
Joe Evans, the good 120 pounder from Ellwood City will tackle Jack Trotter, of East Liverpool. Evans has been flashing all sorts of class and made Joe Baeko quit one week ago Monday. Trotter is said to be a mighty hard puncher so the scrap should be interesting.

Pete Boy, of Ellwood City, will take on Tony Adams of this city. They are welterweights. Pete won his fight by a knockout at Ellwood and Adams lost by a knockout to Ray Atkinson here following a sensational finish.

Charlie Arnett of West Pittsburgh who is now under the supervision of Paris Polson Kid Gangey will box Alec Lawn, Ray Atkinson or some other good 145 pounder. Arnett is the chap who fought Custy Marino and Nick Rossi and Gangey wants to shove him up the ladder.

Larry Weaver, of New Castle, and Frankie Rachig, who settle a month's old quarrel and Ray Gray of Long avenue, will make his debut against the North Hill puncher, Eddie Owens. The lads know nothing else but fight.

One of the new faces to be seen next Monday night will be Louie Storck of Edenburg, who trains while he does farm chores. He is going to tackle another baby sized battler, Adolf Cortes of Ellwood City and they say that anyone with the name Adolf loves to fight.

There will be one other scrap on the calendar and the fans will get a chance to see whose going to be who in the tournament which will get under way here one week later and which will run for two nights.

Jack Pittifer Is New Giant Of Fight Ring

Englishman Weighs 230 Pounds And Stands 6 Feet, 7 Inches

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—There are no English heavyweights. The only two that can fight a lick—and I can't fight much—are over here. This surprising frank admission came today from Jack Pittifer, the newest importation.
"It's like this," the 6 ft. 7, 230 lb. Pittifer explained. "McCookkindale and I are the only ones who can fight at all and Mac is much better than I am. I've had only 30 fights and won 27 by knockouts over there. Three knocked me out.
"I had to come over here because I couldn't find anyone to box. I want to start low and learn and in time I think I'll be pretty good."

Okeson Regrets Errors Made By Grid Officials

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Walter Okeson, commissioner of Eastern football officials, today expressed regret over charges of incompetence shown by officials in the Army-Navy football games last Saturday.
"It's too bad," said Okeson, "that the boys had an off day. I've had no formal protests so I am not going to take any action. However, the rules still need clarifying, especially the one pertaining to blocked kicks and some action probably will be taken at the next session of the rules committee."

Grove City To Play Slippery Rock Saturday

Coach Bill Amos Drills His Squad Hard For Game With Teachers

DISTRICT FANS ARE AROUSED

GROVE CITY, Oct. 24.—The tension among Grove City's 40 football candidates was noticeably increased yesterday as Coach Amos started the week's preparation for the Slippery Rock game. The undefeated Rocket eleven, here for homecoming day, has soundly trounced Westminster, Waynesburg and Thiel, making the coming game highly important to Grove City.

Coach Amos has started to bear down on his willing squad, as he expects to need every trick in the bag to emerge from the Saturday game with a clean slate. The Groves have not been pressed in winning the first three games, but Amos' new attack will be opened up especially for the Rockets here Saturday.

Closed Gates.
The Groves will work out behind closed gates at least twice this week, as they perfect a new style of offense which will be used in the remaining games of the schedule. The Slippery Rock game, opens up a series of hard games on consecutive Saturdays, and the light Grove City team will need a varied attack to carry through the November games.

An injury sustained by Andy Beres, stellar guard, at Bethany on Saturday, is causing some concern in the Crimson camp. The New Castle boy who is making good at guard after two years as a regular end, was forced to retire Saturday, and has not reported for practice. In the event he is unable to start against Slippery Rock, the Groves will be seriously handicapped, due to lack of reserve strength.

The Grove City-Slippery Rock game has aroused district fans to a fever pitch, in view of the Rockets' fine record. Coach Amos will have his squad on edge for the game, but is doubtful of scoring against the powerful Rocket defense which blanketed Waynesburg and Thiel.

Carnegie Tech Is Smart Team

SIGNAL CALLER USES HIS HEAD

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 24.—Folks step up and meet little Howard Harpster who threw away the textbooks of orthodox football, taught his team to capitalize on the "breaks," and has made the gridiron squad of Carnegie Tech one of the leading lights in America.
Tech hasn't said "unle" yet this year, and Harpster flaunts the scalps of two "systems"—the Warner-Temple and Rockne-Notre Dame systems—in addition to a victory over Little Xavier.

Very Light Teams
Orthodox coaches insist on the need for weight plus speed, but Harpster, out of college only a few years, has shouldered his way into the spotlight with teams that are light—very light. His players are taught to use their heads as well as their hands and feet—to play "smart" football.

What's his system? He hasn't any! He gambles on a signal caller who uses his head when a head is needed.

Union Prepares For Zelenople

Union High Hopes To Continue Winning Ways; Coach Drills Team Hard

Union High School football team is hard at work for the coming game with Zelenople High at the Union High Field Saturday afternoon.

Coach Dave Boyd had his Union team out Monday evening for a long drill and will more than likely have a scrimmage session today.

The Unionites started to click against Mars High last week by taking a 7 to 0 victory. The change that put Schuss at fullback worked fine. Captain Georgacs has gone back on the line, and is playing a fine game. Moric and Morrison are taking care of the backfield burdens. Joe Todd is calling signals.

Union hopes to defeat Zelenople here this week. An aerial attack will be used this week in the practices and if it clicks, will probably be used against the invaders from Butler county.

Schmeling Will Battle Loughran

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Oct. 24.—Max Schmeling, German heavyweight who once held the world championship crown will attempt to battle his way back to that pugilistic eminence, his manager, Joe Jacobs, announced today.

Jacobs said Schmeling will meet Tommy Loughran January 15 in New York, "Kingfish" Levinsky in Chicago the following month, and possibly Max Baer at the end of February in San Francisco.

All these bouts would lead up to a battle with Primo Carnera.

THEFTS BRING 30 DAYS
Roosevelt Churn, 322 1/2 Mahoning avenue, was sentenced yesterday to the county jail for 30 days by Alderman Wallace J. Ewing, before whom he was charged with petty larceny.

Authorities charged him with participation in a robbery at the H. J. Braswell store, Mahoning avenue.

In an economic crisis two kinds of officials cause complications, those who insist on resigning and those who refuse to be dismissed.—Washington Evening Star.

Power Carries New Castle To Grid Victories

Alec And Fred Shellogg, 190 Pound Tackles, Make Line Strong

ARE HEADED FOR UNDEFEATED SEASON

Many fans have watched the New Castle team as it moved down opponent after opponent and wondered perhaps what the real reason for the success of the Phil Bridenbaugh grid machines. Well, the secret is out. It's sheer power and nothing more.

The predominating reasons for the New Castle line looking like a veritable stone wall are two brothers, Alec "Possum" Shellogg and Fred Shellogg, big powerful rangy 190-pound tackles. With this pair on the line it is any wonder that New Castle wins games? Never has a high school had two finer looking tackles.

Shelloggs Are Powerful.
New Castle is fortunate in having two linemen the caliber of the Shellogg brothers. If New Castle goes thru to an undefeated season and makes that trip to Florida to play Miami high school it will be the work of the Shelloggs that will pull them thru. This pair would look good on any college team in the country. In the game last Saturday against Turtle Creek the Shelloggs played on important part. They were making tackles all over the field. They stopped the Turtle Creek backs in their tracks.

On either side of the Shelloggs on that New Castle line is found also plenty of tough hunkies in the persons of Walter Raskowski and Louie Sorto, the two guards. The two ends, Hitchens and Kneram, have started to click and therefore made that big front line a lot better looking. Joe Howley at center is another tower of strength. Now, do you still wonder where New Castle gets that power?

Backfield Clicking.
The backfield is starting to click nicely. In the Turtle Creek game the "Red Hurricane" ball carriers came into their own. They went places and scored touchdowns, but with that line in front of them sweeping the opponents out of the way, it is any wonder that the backfield men are finding it easy to tear the opposing lines to pieces.

Captain Walter Kominic is the "power-house" line plunger of the backfield. Walter is good for five or ten any time he carries the ball. In the Turtle Creek game he went thru for at least a half dozen first downs himself. He gained 132 yards in 22 plays. Ridley looks better at quarterback and at blocking. "Whitey" Nickum is the passer and end runner on the team. He is having his best season. Freddy Lane is the speed merchant again and one of the hardest boys in the backfield to bring down.

Bell Phones In Charge Of Golf League Program

Plan Interesting Program At Municipal Links Party Thursday Evening

Members of the Bell Telephone team promises something unique and interesting in connection with the semi-monthly golf league party at the Municipal club house, Thursday evening, when they will have charge of the program.

Tickets have been placed in the hands of all team captains and any golfer in the city, interested in attending the coming event, may secure tickets from the different team captains or members.

These parties have been growing in interest since the players are unable to get out onto the links as much as they did this summer, and a fine spirit of fellowship has been engendered by the parties.

Those expecting to attend are asked to make reservations immediately, so that the committee will know how many to prepare for.

Lew Massey Wins Over Tony Herrera

(International News Service)
PORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 24.—Lew Massey, Philadelphia lightweight, won a ten round decision over Tony Herrera, Port Worth challenger, here last night.

Massey piled up an early advantage that Herrera was never able to overcome the Eastern fighter scoring two knockdowns in the second round.

Plan Two Loops In Church League

Managers To Convene Again Wednesday Night At Y. M. C. A. Bldg.

There will be two circuits in the church basketball league this season, according to Henry MacNicholas, director of athletics at the Y. M. C. A., who added today that the second managerial meeting would be held at 7:15 p. m. Wednesday. Churches not mentioned in the following list are invited to place representatives in the league. The season will be ushered in on Thanksgiving.

Managers of the following church teams should report Wednesday: First M. E., St. Pauls Lutheran, St. John's Lutheran, Sacred Hearts, A. Highland U. P., First Baptist, First Baptist B., Mahoning Presbyterian, First Christian, St. Michaels, Wesley M. E., Second U. P., Tifereth Israel, Greek Orthodox church, Sacred Hearts B. Epworth M. E., St. Andrews and Central Christian. Any other churches of the city are invited to this meeting as the leagues will be kept open at least for this meeting.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Jimmy Belmont who played havoc with opponents here when he was going good as a preliminary boy suffered a technical knockout last night at Pittsburgh in his bout with Joey Bazzone. Jimmy sustained a gash above his eye and the referee had to stop the fight in the ninth round. Mike Barto beat Johnny Duro in a good six round semi-final. Mose Butch scored a technical knockout over Pee Wee Cleghorn in four rounds at Wheeling. Jimmy Vaughn knocked out Battling Gizzy in the seventh round at Cleveland and Paul Pirrone put Earl Montebano to sleep in the eighth round in the same ring.

Russia May Be Market For U.S.

Believe Recognition Of Soviet Would Spur Business For United States

WOULD PROVIDE FOR BETTER CREDIT

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Prospects of a revival of business between the United States and Russia were discussed with keen interest in foreign trade circles today.

Reports that by January 1 President Roosevelt will announce the resumption of normal diplomatic relations between the American government and the Soviet union has started a flood of speculation as to how trade in this country will be benefited and economic recovery stimulated.

Various American industries will be given a sharp impetus, in the opinion of trade experts, if the United States establishes—as is reported contemplated—a large credit for the Soviet union to make purchases in this country.

Trade was rising between the United States and Russia up to three years ago. Then it started to drop. It took a precipitous decline in the past two years.

The decline in Russian purchases in this country was due chiefly to two reasons:

1—Absence of satisfactory credits and financial facilities on the part of the banks.

2—Serious difficulties in the bringing in of Russian products to this country. Russian trade experts say that various charges were levied against Soviet goods, such as dumping, forced labor and unfair practices.

Objections cropped up when Russia started to develop the exporting of a certain product to America, according to experts here with Soviet connections. They say hearings were held in Washington, resulting in delays and general dissatisfaction.

The result was that Russia turned from the United States to other countries. A great deal of trade was diverted to European countries which formerly went to the United States.

These two main difficulties, it was explained, aggravated Russia at a time when European countries were making a drive for Russian business with long term, government guaranteed credits and tariff concessions.

The assumption in foreign trade circles in New York today is that these difficulties will be removed when Maxim M. Litvinov, Soviet commissar of foreign affairs, who is coming to this country soon, and President Roosevelt get together in conference.

Better financing arrangements for Soviet purchases in this country are anticipated. The start was made last summer. Russian experts say, when the reconstruction finance corporation guaranteed credits in connection with the purchase by Russia of between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 of cotton.

With the recognition of Russia by the United States it is expected there will be a renewal of negotiations looking toward the granting of much more substantial credits for Russian purchases in this country. The average American concern, it was asserted, has not sufficient finances to give long term credits without substantial banking assistance or assistance from the reconstruction finance corporation.

Russia, it was explained, has purchased about four and one half billion dollars worth of foreign goods under the Soviet regime and has not reneged on any of its financial obligations. With the country in the process of rebuilding, Russia is pointed to as a potentially splendid market, especially for American goods.

QUICK WORK MADE OF TWO BOLD BANDITS

STUEBENVILLE, O., Oct. 24.—Handcuffed together and heavily guarded by deputy sheriffs, Thomas Purbee, 39, and Earl Heminger, 27, Toronto (O.) street car bandits, were brought into court here late Monday and sentenced to 10 to 25 years each in the Ohio penitentiary.

The pair confessed to staging three robberies on Stuebenville—East Liverpool interurbans, robbing motomen and passengers of money and jewelry, and to a series of gas station robberies at Youngstown and Canton, forcing kidnapped taxi drivers to aid them in escaping.

FORMER RESIDENTS HERE ON MONDAY

Thomas Williams and Rhys Williams, former residents of New Castle but now of New York City, passed through here Monday, on their way to Chicago. Both are engaged in the entertainment business and have been associated with Tony Sarg and his Marionettes for some time. Recently they acquired a unit of their own and expect to open in Chicago soon.

Rhys, the younger of the brothers was married but a week ago and with him yesterday was his bride.

SHOW DECLINE

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Lower prices in the grain markets snatched the brisk rally in the stock market today and earlier gains hanging from fractions to more than 2 points on the pivotal issues were cut to the vanishing point, and in some instances converted into fractional losses.

The gold mining shares, leaders in the initial advance when Home-stake shot up 12 points, turned soft along with the rest of the list and yielded the major part of their gains.

Liquor shares, laggards in yesterday's recovery were among the first to turn downward. National Distillers slipped off more than a point without showing any great amount of resistance and brought sympathy selling into Commercial Solvents, American Commercial Alcohol and Schenley.

Indications of a decline in car loadings brought an easier tone into the carrier shares where Southern Railway, New York Central, Southern Pacific and other issues were only barely steady around their previous close. The utilities gave a similar account of themselves.

United States Steel, heavily bought at the start, and up more than a point over yesterday's close, lost all of its gain. The motor shares turned definitely weak under the league of Chrysler which sold down about a point.

In the grain markets wheat and corn dipped fractionally on profit taking and cotton after opening about 75 cents a bale higher had the gain cut to about 50 cents a bale.

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 24.—Three Ellwood City youths are in the local lockup today in default of bail on charges of burglary, entering, and receiving stolen goods, as preferred by Lieut. E. R. Hartman of the local police.

The three, Fred Couts, Dom Metz and Dom Metta, were arrested last night at different times by Lieut. Hartman and Patrolman K. M. Musser, who have been working on the case since the robbery of the Hungarian hall early in the morning of October 17, a week ago today. The arrest was made late last night.

Great Master Code For Retail Stores To Start Next Week

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The great master code of the nation's retailers forbidding selling goods below cost and exempting from all its provisions any merchant operating a store employing fewer than five persons, it was disclosed when the code was made public at NRA headquarters.

The code, which applies to the more than 1,000,000 general merchandise stores, was signed by President Roosevelt in order that it would become effective before Nov. 1. It goes into effect next Monday.

Provisions Eliminated.
The cost plus ten per cent "stop-loss" provisions, demanded by the six major retail trade associations, were eliminated from the code and replaced by other loss limitation provisions.

The substitute provisions permit a trade allowance set up in the code to establish a percentage above actual invoice cost whenever it wishes to check "predatory price cutting" or "cut-throat price competition."

All forms of "loss leader" sales, the most widely used form of advertising in the retail field today are strictly forbidden.

In an executive order, signed at the same time he approved the retail code, the president exempted retailers employing fewer than five persons from the provisions of the president's reemployment agreement as well as from the provisions of the retail code, which supplements the agreement. He made it possible for the smaller retailers in the agricultural area to retain their blue eagle without living up to the code or the reemployment agreement.

Also omitted from the retail code was the discount restriction clause pertaining to the retail drug trade. In its previous form the code forbade druggists to sell any standard trademarked article at less than 21 per cent below its nationally advertised retail price. These provisions were stricken from the code without comment but it is known that the consumer's advisory board strongly opposed the principle of turning price-setting over to manufacturers. In exempting retailers employing less than five workers, the president made a direct concession to small store owners in the agricultural areas of the country.

New Limitations.
In the new "loss limitation" provision, retailers in communities with less than 2,500 population according to the 1930 census "which are not part of a large trade area" also get special exemption.

The new "loss limitation" provisions read:
"In order to prevent unfair competition against local merchants, the use of the so-called 'loss leader' is hereby declared to be an unfair trade practice. These 'loss leaders' are articles often sold below cost to the merchant for the purpose of attracting trade."

"This practice results, of course, either in efforts by the merchants to make up the loss by charging more than a reasonable profit for other articles or else in driving the small merchant with little capital out of legitimate business."

Works Against Producer.
"It works back against the producer of raw materials on farms and in industry and against the labor so employed."

"This declaration against the use of 'loss leaders' by the storekeeper does not prohibit him from selling an article without any profit to himself. But the selling price of articles to the consumer should include an allowance for actual wages of store labor, to be fixed and published from time to time by the trade authority hereinafter established."

"Such an allowance for labor need not be included in the selling price of any article of food, or be applied by storekeepers doing business only in communities of less than 2,500 population (according to the 1930 census) which are not part of a larger trade area."

"Provided, however, that any retailer may sell any article of merchandise at a price as low as the price set by any competitor in his trade area on merchandise which is identical or essentially the same, if such competitor's price is set in conformity with the foregoing provisions."

"A retailer who thus reduces a price to meet a competitor's price as above defined shall not be deemed to have violated the provisions of this section if such retailer immediately notifies the nearest representative retail trade organization of such action and all facts pertinent thereto."

Economic Board.

In other new provisions of the code the president sets up a "national retail trade economic board," which shall consist of five members appointed by himself or by the recovery administrator.

The provisions state:
"Such board shall observe and study the economic effects and results of the various provisions of this code and shall report from time to time to the administrator."

A complete revolution in retail trade practices is expected as the result of the "loss limitation" provisions and other unfair trade practice clauses. These trade practice provisions, which cover several pages of the code, forbid some of the present types of newspaper and periodical and radio advertising.

No Misrepresentation.
No retailer can advertise anything "inaccurate in any material particular," or misrepresent merchandise, or boast any special credit services which he will not give or "use advertising and or selling methods which tend to deceive or mislead the customer."

They are further forbidden to refer inaccurately to any competitor or his merchandise, prices, values, credit terms, policies or services.

Section (c) of the trade practice provisions reads:
"No retailer shall use advertising which inaccurately lays claims to a policy or continuing practice of generally underselling competitor."

Percy Straus, head of R. H. Macy & Co., New York, had charged that similar provisions in the original code were aimed at the Macy store in New York. Straus led the fight also against the "loss limitation" provisions finally approved in the code.

No Secret Rebates.
Among other trade practices forbidden by the code were the giving of secret rebates to employees or agents of a customer for the purpose of inducing a sale, rendering inaccurate bills or statements of accounts, and offering "substitute products" for goods ordered by brand name.

The retailers are also forbidden to buy any goods which do not bear the Blue Eagle, if such goods are manufactured by an industry covered by a code or a president's reemployment agreement.

The momentous effect of the code on the consumption habits of the nation are best exemplified by a summary of conditions in the trades.

1,543,000 Establishments.
In 1930 there were 1,543,000 retail establishments in the country, of which 482,000 were strictly food and grocery stores. This leaves a total of 1,061,000 establishments coming directly under the master retail code.

Of this number only about 45,000 are exempted under terms of the president's executive order. It is estimated that these stores do a total annual business of about $2,000,000,000 or less than $10,000 each yearly.

In 1930 the total annual retail sales amounted to $49,000,000,000. Thus the exempted stores represent only about 4 per cent of the total retail trade. All the rest will be directly affected by the new sales practices established in the code.

The retail code was first discussed in public hearing on Aug. 22, exactly two months before it was whittled into shape for President Roosevelt to sign yesterday.

5,000,000 Affected.
The wage and hour provisions of the code affect about 5,000,000 divisions of employees in the retail trade. Child labor is virtually abolished. No persons under 16 years of age can be employed regularly in a retail store. Persons 14 and 15 years of age may be employed either for a period not to exceed three hours a day or for one 8-hour pay week. In either case all such hours of work shall be between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. and shall not conflict with the hours of day school.

Drastic cuts in the working hours of most employees, especially in smaller stores, also are provided. In stores open for business less than 56 hours a week no employee shall work more than 40 hours nor more than six days a week. In stores open for 56 hours or more, no employee shall work more than 44 hours nor more than six days a week. Any store which elects to stay open for business more than 56 hours a week, but no more than six days in succession.

Wage scales also are set in a manner designed to maintain present earnings at the present long hours or increase these earnings. A minimum wage is set for the most unskilled type of employees ranged from $10 per week in cities of 2,500 population to $15 per week in cities over 500,000 population. A wage differential of one dollar less per week from these scales is set up for southern employees.

Special provisions bind retailers with goods on their shelves or already purchased not to increase prices unduly on the pretense that operation under the code has caused such price raising.

Police Destroy Much Liquor

Confiscated Booze Is Poured
Into Sewer At Police Station

Should you notice more than the ordinary commotion in the river, today don't get unduly excited—The fish are on a spree.

Yesterday they received their supply of illicit liquor with homebrew for a chaser and as a result they even had the audacity, according to watchers of defying anglers to bait 'em.

You see it's like this:
For weeks the police and constables have been quite active, arrests have been made and wherever liquor or homebrew was found it was confiscated and hauled to police station.

Not wishing to have his office decorated with Four Aces, Three Star Hennessey, Peacock, Lincoln Inn and T. N. T. homebrew, the chief decided to dispose of it.

So yesterday he summoned officers and they with the aid of Constable Frank Connors and a colored gentleman caused the three grogans and those who dislike liquor and 'suds' to smile.

Fictitious Liquor.
Every time a bottle was smashed it brought a groan from those who would have liked to taste the whiskey or beer while those who dislike it merely said: "Down the sewer!"

There were 17 cases of pints of liquor which went down the sewer to make the fish battling mad. Gin and alcohol helped to send them into a frenzy and when the homebrew arrived for a chaser they became so brave they defied fishermen to throw in a line with bait.

Now here are some of the names on the labels (which doesn't mean a thing at all) according to the officials:

American Rye, Lincoln Inn, Golden Wedding, Peacock, Dougherty, Four Aces, London dry gin, Cognac, Gordon gin, William Penn, Bourbon and other Three Star Hennessey (and if ever there was a travesty on the name Hennessey, the chief says, it was to name the "Steam" the police got after Three Star Hennessey).

Morris was attracted to the front of his home by the noise the celebrators were making, and as he went to open the door, someone in the group threw a cabbage head thru the glass of the door, shattering him with the broken pieces, one of which inflicted a nasty wound on the left arm.

After receiving treatment at the hospital, he was able to return to his home.

Weekly Health Talk

"With the coal-shovelling season here, it is again in order to advise regarding inside temperature. Undoubtedly thousands of homes are constantly overheated during the winter. In fact, there are many families who tolerate an indoor temperature in the cold months to which they would and do strenuously object in summer. Such persons not only are uneconomical with the coal pile, but are endangering their health as well," states Dr. Theodore B. Appel, state secretary of health.

"It is of course a line of least resistance to permit the furnace to be over-active. Up to a certain point the additional heat, over and above the health requirements, is quite comfortable. The fact that under such conditions one's body is becoming overheated and that the sweat glands are therefore active is not appreciated. Unfortunately this does not alter the fact that there will be hundreds of deaths in Pennsylvania this winter that can be directly attributed to the thoughtless practice of living in an excessive temperature."

"People enjoying an overheated temperature become soft and with bodily pores behaving however, imperceptibly as they do in summer time, the system is at a decided disadvantage in defending itself against the sudden change from a tropical or sub-tropical heat to the penetrating cold so prevalent in this latitude."

"Consequently colds, bronchial troubles and pneumonia, taking advantage of the situation, step in and do much unnecessary, and not infrequently, fatal damage. You will agree that this is entirely too high a price to pay for a few extra degrees of unneeded heat."

"For example, a certain family typical of many hundreds, has again started on its annual program of colds and sore throats. Almost without exception this group, consisting of father, mother and four children go through a course of colds each winter. However, this does not alter its affection for super-heat. The fact that grandma, long since passed away, required 76 degrees to 78 degrees still seems to be the reason for the inexcusable health risk which has been regularly taken for eighteen or more years."

"True, a cottage at the shore sets them on their feet again, only, however, to be debilitated and looking the part when the warm weather of the following spring eliminates artificial heat. Under the circumstances these people have been lucky that no higher price for their folly were exacted."

"Sixty-eight to 70 degrees is the health temperature. A thermometer kept within that range, plus proper humidity, is a great health safeguard. More than are doing so need to erect it. What does your thermometer read?"
